EXCELLENT SCHOOL MEETING FRIDAY.

Superintendent Pile Succeeds in Having a Splendid Program

Rendered For The Teachers Of Breckenridge.

MRS. CHAS. WEAVER SPEAKS.

The meeting arranged by Superintendent Joel H. Pile for the teachers, trustees and people of Breckenridge county was an enthusiastic, a successful and profitable one. The secret of it was "School Improvement" and it was well brought out and emphasized in all the addresses.

As many as 80 teachers, if not more, were present. The morning was devoted to the business affairs of the County School Board and the afternoon was given over to the speakers. Pres. Cherry, John P. Haswell, Jesse Whitworth and Mrs. Chas. Weaver, of Louisville, being among them.

As a result of the day's work a District School Improvement League was organized with the following officers: J. H. Pile, president; Miss Nell Mooman, vice president; Mr. Driskell, secretary and treasurer; Miss Willie Chambers Press committee.

Some of the ideas expressed in Mrs. Weaver's address were along the following lines:

We cannot expect our children to do good work in school unless they are well. We cannot expect them to be well unless the building where they spend five or six hours every day is clean, comfortable and perfectly sanitary.

We cannot expect children to do good work in school unless they love school. They will not love school unless it is worth loving. A dilapidated, cheerless school commands the respect of neither pupil nor parent. We can easily keep our children in school by making it beautiful. There is not only a mental but a moral stimulus in beautiful surroundings. To accomplish its best work therefore, the school must be attractive.

HAD EXPERIENCE WITH NIGHT RIDERS

E. C. McDonald, who arrived here last Thursday to spend the week end with his sister, Mrs. Frank Mattingly, left Monday morning to enter upon his medical work at the University of Louisville. Mr. McDonald has been in Tennessee for several weeks and was in the midst of night-riding which occurred there October, the twentieth. He was at Ward's Hotel the night before Col. Taylor and Capt. Rankin were taken from there by the night riders. One place where he spent the night the riders came to the hotel and made the proprietor give them possession of his store where they got enough matches and coal oil to burn ten of his tenant houses. "The situation of affairs in Tennessee is dreadful," says Mr. McDonald. He was also threatened for employing a negro driver in one town, but when he gave them to understand that he was from Kentucky, they did not bother him. Mr. McDonald ate dinner with Ex-Senator Carmack the day before he was shot and killed by Cooper.

Ben Bates Writes.

Dear Editor: Enclosed $25 cents. Send me the News for 3 months. I feel lost without the paper as I see in it all that is going on at home.

My wife has just returned from Kentucky where she has spent 2 weeks visiting. She states that things are awful dry back there. Well we are having fine weather here and people are busy getting in their corn. A man goes out here and gets 80 Bushels per day at 4 per cent a bushel and board making him a good day wages. This is a fine country. One man can tend more land here than 6 can there. John Hall tends one hundred acres and gets along by himself. You never walk to work here. I see wagons coming to town with as much as 1.50 bushels of wheat and corn at one load of course they are 4 horses. I would love to be in Cloverport long enough to take a good hunt with a coon dog as there is none in this country.

HARVEY WATTERSON

Burial in Cave Hill--Messages of Condolence Received From National and State Notables.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—The body of Harvey Watterson was laid to rest in Cave Hill cemetery. The tragedy of last Wednesday has cast a gloom over many homes, both in New York and Louisville.

Over a thousand messages of condolence from all parts of the country have reached Mr. and Mrs. Henry Watterson. These came not only from relatives and friends, but from many sympathizers who were personally unknown.

Not a few of these messages came from party adversaries, including members of the cabinet, the managers of the national Republican campaign and most of the leading Republicans of Kentucky.

To these especially Mr. and Mrs. Watterson wish to return their grateful acknowledgments.

MRS. LUCIA ANN TUCKER.

A character that has been pure and beautiful ever since she played in the mountains of Vermont, is Mrs. Lucia Ann Tucker. In the year of 1842 she came to Kentucky with her husband and though there were many shadows cast around their family hearth during the Civil War, her heart was never darkened with hard feelings toward the Southern people. Mrs. Tucker is wonderful. Notwithstanding she is in her ninetieth year, she has never worn glasses, she is not deaf and is remarkably active. Mrs. Tucker has just completed a quilt of two thousand tiny squares. Her home is in this city with her grand-niece, Miss Nannie Morton, who is indeed lovely and kind to her.

THIS IS THE HOME OF MRS. LYDIA JOLLY AT IRVINGTON, KY.

CHURCH NOTES.

Thanksgiving services will be held at 10 a. m. at the Presbyterian church under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Graves, assisted by Rev. James T. Lewis. Rev. Currie will deliver the sermon.

Miss Margaret Bennett Burns has charge of the vocal at the Methodist church during the absence of the organist, Miss Ida White. Miss Burns handles the instrument beautifully and her playing has been highly complimented.

A children's choir will be organized in the M. E. Sunday School at an early date under the direction of Mrs. Ira Behn and Miss Severs.

ATTRACTIVE BAZAR

J. C. Nolte & Brother Entertaining Customers and Friends This Week.

Cloverport people and visitors to the city are having a happy time this week at the Christmas Bazar which is being given in the store of J. C. Nolte & Brother.

Many minds have been relieved by their first visit to the Bazar for it furnished them so many ideas what to buy and give for Christmas.

Miss Stella Weatherholt has charge of the Bazar assisted by Mr. Chas. Fallon. Mr. Julius Nolte and Mr. Emmet Nolte are exceedingly well pleased with the satisfaction and pleasure the Bazar is giving the Christmas thinkers.

An invitation is extended to everybody to attend. When you make your invasion there, by all means, tell the Messrs. Nolte's you read in the News about their Bazar.

STEPHENSPOORT.

W. M. Skillman Answers Death's Call Sunday Morning--Had Worked in P. O. D. Seventeen Years.

Sunday morning at two o'clock death came and waited the spirit of W. M. Skillman to the other shore. Mr. Skillman was sixty-four years old. He was a good man, never said no to any one that was in trouble when he could lend a helping hand. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and seemed to be at peace with his God. He was making his home with his brother, R. S. Skillman, at the time of his death. He had been in Washington, D. C. for about seventeen years in the post-office department. His remains were taken to Hardinsburg Monday for interment.

Born, to the wife of Albert McKaughn, Friday, November 13, a fine boy, Roy Charles.

Warner and John Dickman and families will leave for California the first of December.

Mrs. W. J. Shoop has returned from Louisville.

Our town seems to be on a boom. Two saw mills running, everybody at work, merchants all doing good business and ever thing moving along nicely.

Miss Margaret Stallman was here last week.

R. A. Smith has sold his livery stable to Richard McAfee.

Rev. Winchell, of Tobinsport, has accepted the call here at the Baptist church.

Rev. F. R. Roberts and wife spent a few days in Hardinsburg last week the guests of their son, Herbert Roberts.

Mrs. Helen Chipp, Mrs. Sue Grant and brother, Roy Brasher, have erected a beautiful monument in memory of their dear father, J. C. Brasher, in the cemetery on the hill.

Mrs. R. A. Shellman is real sick at this writing.

Miss Esther Pavne spent Saturday and Sunday in the country the guest of Miss Laura Hugh Wattington.

William Pettit left Wednesday for Uniontown to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. James Buchanan.

Mrs. Godfrey Haswell and daughter, of Hardinsburg, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCubbin.

His First Vote For Taft.

During a lull in the voting at Havesville precinct election day a funny little experience occurred. The judges were A. Freeman and M. Stephens, and each are always ready for a little mirth. A small boy, probably less than ten years old, came rushing into the polling place and announced that he was ready to vote. In order to make the joke complete they secured one of the sample ballots on yellow paper, stood him up in a chair and told him to fire away. He told them he would prefer that some one would vote for him, and this was just what the judges wanted, for they were anxious to find out how the young man proposed to "save the country." When everything was in readiness he announced that Taft was good enough for him, and the ballot was so marked. The little fellow departed, his name unknown to any of the officers, and he no doubt thinks he helped in a substantial way to cut down that ten thousand majority against Taft in Kentucky.—Hancock Clarion.

In Loving Remembrance Of Two Little Brothers.

Franklin Arnold, who died Nov. 19, 1908, and John Wilford Ruddell, April 2, 1908, beloved children of John and Lillian Ridge.

We had a little treasure once He was our joy and pride, We loved him, oh! perhaps too well, For soon he slept and died. But since then, another little lamb has gone To dwell with him who gave; Another little darling child Is sheltered in the grave. Two little angels now on high They hand in hand together roam, Two little souls that lead us to the sky, Two fingers beckon us to come, Those little lips so sweet to kiss, Are closed forever now; Those sweet blue eyes that shone so bright, Are closed and hidden from our sight.

Wm. White has returned home from college.

McCALL-JOLLY

Engagement of Prominent Young People Announced--Will be Married Next Week.

Announcement is made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Mr. Edith H. Jolly to Miss Bettie Lee McCall. The wedding will be solemnized Wednesday afternoon, November the twenty-fifth at 3:00 o'clock, at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Irvington.

SOCIETY NOTES AND HUNTING PARTIES.

The fields, the bird, the dog and gun are utmost in the minds of all who love to hunt this week. Notwithstanding many farms have been posted, several persons were given permission to invade them and they started for the country Monday.

o o o

Messrs. Chas. Skillman, Frank English, D. H. Severs, Len Gregory and Dr. Lightfoot left Monday morning for Saltilman. They took a complete camp outfit and will spend a week hunting.

o o o

WEDDING PRESENTS.

Charming New Gifts In Silver For the Fall Bride.

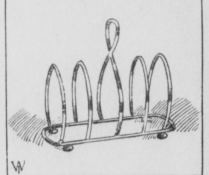

FLAT SILVER ACCEPTABLE.

An Interesting Assortment of Individual Casters For Tumblers and Bottles--A Bride's Capacity For Berry Spoons and Salad Forks.

When selecting a gift for the future mistress of a home it is well to remember that unless she is unusually wealthy she must depend upon her wedding gifts for beautiful little pieces of silver and glass that add so much to the attractiveness of her new the larger casters, which are perfect flat and are used to protect the table linen from the moisture on the outside of a ginger ale bottle or pitcher of ice water. These flat casters come in all sizes, from those which are barely large enough to accommodate a bottle to the large twelve or fifteen inch affairs, which may be used as centerpieces under bowls of flowers. They are exceedingly attractive, as they are made of disks of clear glass covered with pierced silver in beautiful floral designs. They combine utility with attractiveness as is known by every housekeeper who has experienced the vexation of having an ugly ring left on a clean luncheon cloth from a pitcher of lemonade or iced tea.

Another pretty little silver gift which would be appreciated by any bride who likes beautiful things for her table is a toast rack of silver. The one shown here is a rather small one, which would be admirable for use on a breakfast tray. A little more costly than some of the silver novelties, but exquisite in design, is a holder for powdered sugar made of silver and glass. Of course there is the usual array of berry spoons and salad forks, but it must be remembered that a bride's casters for berry spoons is somewhat limited and that with these, as with many other good things, "enough is as good as a feast."

Be Gracious. It is an easy matter to cultivate a graciousness that holds one's friends in thrall through the coming and going of one's whole existence and is a charming prerogative of womanhood that should extend to all alike. It is impossible for the woman who is genuinely polite and well bred to be discriminating. If these qualities be inborn it is just as natural for her to be courteous and gracious to the lowest servant in her household as it is when in the society of the greatest magnate of the land.

The self assertive woman is too egotistical to consider other the feelings or the comfort of others, and the consequence is she is always offending or wounding, even when not intending to offend or harm, that tell their own story in both men and women, from the fact that it is almost impossible to don compact garters as one would the garments of state occasions.

BLOCKADED.

Every Household in Cloverport

Should know how to Resist

It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

Mrs. W. L. Yates, 919 Hall St., Owensboro Ky., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills positive relief from a constant backache and an irregularity of the kidney secretion. Previous to using Doan's Kidney Pills I was debilitated had no energy and was languid and felt tired all the time. I was restless and nervous nights, did not sleep well and I was subject to frequent headaches, also at times experiencing dizzy spells. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills they seemed to be just what I wanted, and I procured them. They strengthened my kidneys, removed the backache and I am quite free from kidney complaint at the present time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name--Doan's--and take no other.

The Traces of the Beast. On every side in the Malay wilds the traces of the beast--which here live as scheduled, as safe from molestation as did their ancestors in pre-Adamic days--are visible on tree trunk, on beaten game path and on the yielding clay at the drinking places by the hurrying stream. Here a belt of mud nine feet from the ground shows that an elephant has rubbed his itching back against the rough bark of a tree, and, see, coarse hairs are still sticking in the hardened clay. There a long, sharp scratch repeated at regular intervals marks the passing of a rhinoceros. Here, again, is the pad mark of a tiger barely an hour old, and the pitted tracks of deer of all sizes and varieties surround the deeply punched holes which are the footprints of an elephant. --Cornhill Magazine

COLORS IN THE OCEAN.

Various Causes For the Different Tints of the Water.

Sky and cloud colors are often reflected in the sea, but just as the air has its sunset glory so water has its changing tints quite apart from mere reflection. When a few drops of the discolored water are examined under a microscope myriads of minute cylinder shaped algae are seen, some separate, some joined together in scores. It is this organism--sometimes called "sea sawdust"--which has given the name to the Red Sea, although it also abounds in other waters. Sometimes the water far from land will be seen to be of a chocolate hue for an extent of several miles, and this is caused by millions upon millions of minute one celled animals which lash themselves along, each on his erratic individual course, by means of the finest of hair-like threads of cilia. --Pearson's.

Settled the Sign.

When William M. Evans was secretary of state a new elevator man had been employed in the department who did not know Mr. Evans by sight. In his car was a conspicuous sign to the effect that by order of the secretary of state smoking was prohibited. One day Mr. Evans boarded the car in company with a famous senator, the latter smoking a cigar. The new man promptly touched the smoker on the elbow and said, pointing at the notice, "Can't you read that sign?" Mr. Evans promptly tore down the offending notice and, turning to the elevator man, said: "What sign? I don't see any." The attendant, suspecting something, wisely held his peace, but he followed the pair out and asked the guard at the door who the chap with the large head was. The guard told him.

England's Prettiest Villages.

After a very careful survey we venture to write down the names of the six English villages that are considered the prettiest in the land so far as our own opinion and wide experience are concerned. The choice is made impartially and with full knowledge and due recognition of the claims of each to its high place. Here are the six: Bonchurch, Isle of Wight; Clonville, Devonshire; Wiltshire; Dorset; Sonning, Oxfordshire; Shere, Surrey, and Clapham, Yorkshire.--London Strand Magazine.

TORTOISE SHELL.

The Way the Plates Are Removed From the Animal.

The comb of tortoise shell has a very pale and translucent yellow, the only really valuable kind of shell. "Many people think this pale, unmottled shell the cheaper kind," the dealer said. "Do you know why? Because the imitations are all made like this. That is one vulgar error about shell. Another is that the tortoise is killed to get its shell casing. That is as absurd an error as it would be to say a sheep was killed to get its wool. What is done is this: The fishermen, having caught a tortoise, tie him and then cover his back with dry grass and leaves. They set fire to this stuff. It burns slowly, and the heat causes the thirteen plates of the shell to loosen at the joints. With a knife the plates are pried off, and afterward the tortoise is set free. The base, or root, of his shell is intact and will grow again. If tortoises were killed to get their shell they would long since have become extinct. "No, no. Every tortoise is, as it were, a farm--a shell farm. Fishermen catch him regularly and with heat and a knife gently remove his shell."--New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ambulance Field Examination.

Scene--Hamilton South. A soldier supposed to have been wounded is brought to surgeon's tent by bearers. Bearers (reporting)--Severe scalp wound, sir, accompanied with insensibility. Surgeon--Well, what have you done? Bearers--Dressed the wound, sir, and gave him a little whisky and water. Surgeon--Whisky and water! How did you expect an insensible man to swallow that? Bearers--He axed for't, sir.--London Illustrated Bits.

WHY DID THE REPUBLICANS WIN?

The Republican party carried the country because it had a good record, capable leaders and a policy which met the approbation of a large majority of thinking, progressive, public-spirited Americans. And in every one of these particulars the Democracy was fatally weak. The Republican party is a little over half a century old. Except for two short interruptions, it has governed the country for forty-eight years. During that time it has seen the country multiply more than two and a half times in its wealth. The comfort, the prosperity and the general advancement of its people have been wonderful. The country's prestige and influence have increased to a degree of which nobody at the outset in the career of the Republican party dreamed. And even its blindest and most bigoted enemies know that in all this progress and expansion the legislation of the Republican party bore a prominent part.

What it did for the country's advancement in the past it is repeating now and, under the administration of President Taft, it will continue to repeat. Here are the reasons why the great mass of intelligent Americans stand with the Republican party. Here are the reasons why they have just given their magnificent tribute of confidence to the party, and why they have started it out on a new career of usefulness to the country. Even the youngest of the voters who went to the polls two days ago remembers the excellent work for the country which the party has done in the past few years. Its national irrigation act, its amendment to the interstate commerce act of 1887, its meat inspection, pure food, antitrust, employers, liability and child labor laws have all won the country's plaudits. The Republican party enacted the legislation by which the Panama Canal is being built, and through which the benefits to the country will be large. It has started a movement which will conserve the national resources and halt the destruction of the great bases of wealth. It is shaping a policy which will result in giving deep-water communication between the Gulf of Mexico and the lakes, which will make every important town on its course—Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans and others—seaports, and which has for its ultimate purpose the improvement of every navigable stream in the country. These are all measures of practical policy. All of these are the work of the past five or six years. All are within the easy recollection of every person who is old enough to vote. The wise and patriotic policy which this programme covers is an evidence that the party which accomplished it, or which has started it on foot, is the party which the country needs to retain in office. As the country gets larger its needs will grow greater, and the duty of every public-spirited citizen to give the Republican party his support becomes more and more urgent.

In the campaign which has just closed the Republican party was beset by difficulties of unusual dimensions. The panic, the fear of negro defection and the assaults made by some of the labor union chiefs conspired to hamper it throughout the campaign. The rule has been that the party in power during a financial convulsion will be beaten in the ensuing election. The Republicans were not responsible for the industrial stagnation of the past twelve months, but the Democrats charged it to them, and counted confidently on winning the election as a consequence. Attempts were made by Democratic demagogues to show that the Democracy would be a better friend of the black man than the Republican party has been. Charges of Republican hostility to labor were made during the campaign with a frequency and a reckless disregard for truth which were relied on to turn the scale in the great industrial centers. These obstacles were easily overcome by the Republicans. In the face of as malignant and mendacious an opposition as the country has ever seen the Republican party has won a conspicuous triumph. The prospects point to a longer period of sway for the Republicans now than they had during the civil war and reconstruction days. In the congressional field the Republicans have already, in unbroken duration, beaten the record of those days. The sixteen years of complete sway in both branches of Congress which the Republicans have gained surpasses anything in the history of the Republicans and Democrats in the past. Its four successive elections of a president is below the record of the party's earlier days, but there is a fair prospect that many other elections of Republicans will follow. The business of legislation becomes increasingly important as the country expands in population and in the volume and the variety of its industries, and this condition demands an especial intelligence in selecting a party which will deal wisely with the new problems. Here is why the Republican party was chosen. The country did a grand day's work for itself on November 3.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Secretary Root in a recent address to the students of Hamilton College, N. Y., gave some sound advice to his young auditors saying among other things the following: "You are now standing on the threshold of great opportunities. In all the ages never were so many avenues to success open to the young man of power, intellect and force of character. In all the countries of the earth there is not one in which these personal characteristics are in such demand as in this peaceful, orderly America of ours. You are not to be mere storehouses of dry learning, all covered with dust, but you are to learn to be men. Boundless possibilities are yours. You will either fail or attain the brightest success. It is not so much what you learn as what you become. Now is the time for character forming. You are to be great and successful or failures in life. You have that now which all the world envies—youth. It now rests with you to commute that with capacity for happiness and power to work well, and my best wishes go with you." What is good advice for the students at Hamilton is good for students everywhere. We hope our boys and girls will appropriate this advice, take it home with them and

TO OUR YOUNGER READERS.

The Breckenridge News has decided to give a column to its younger readers and opens it this week by publishing an interesting and delightful little story by Miss Florence Allen Fairleigh of Louisville. We trust you will appreciate and enjoy this feature. It will demand no little expense and attention on our part, but we are glad we are able to launch this Children's Department and will exercise our best efforts to make it attractive. Next week we will publish several Thanksgiving letters, and if you did not write one, enter our next contest which will be announced later.

In Trimble, Henry, Shelby and other counties says the Harrodsburg Democrat, the Democratic committees adopted stringent rules against the use of money or whisky by any candidate in their primary elections, and with excellent results. Last Saturday nearly forty Democratic candidates lined up at Richmond and took a solemn oath that they would not use money, whisky or any other improper influence in the primary election to be held in Madison county next Saturday, and that they would not allow their friends to do so. This looks like death to bribery and drunkenness in elections and the destruction of the "floaters"—a consumption most devoutly to be wished by people and candidates alike. It is to be hoped that the Mercer county Democratic committee and candidates will follow the excellent example set by our neighboring counties and eliminate these evils from our coming primary election.

If primary elections are held in Breckenridge county by either or both parties the above rules should be adopted. It is the only way to have clean, fair elections and to secure good clean men to fill the offices.

THE SHOW

Written by Florence Allen Fairleigh when She was 12 Years of Age.

Chapter 1.
"And may I go too?" cried a tiny voice from within a tiny little person of three. "No, Elsie, you will be frightened at the big elephants. They are just like the one in the parade and you know how they frightened you—no, darling it is best for you to stay and let brother go; he will bring you home some nice pop-corn and a red balloon," said Mrs. Thomas, her mother.

So it was that Cecil Thomas with some other boy friends at half-past one put out for the dog and pony show. Mrs. Thomas wishing to go to see a very dear friend who was sick, left soon after dinner, leaving little Elsie to take her afternoon nap alone except for Clara, her nurse, who had company in the kitchen. Elsie woke up, rubbed her eyes and looked around the room no one was there not even Clara. Elsie wanted to see the little ponies, she wanted getting off the bed. She stopped short. Yes, she could go to the show and Clara wouldn't know, yes, she would go and see the pretty ponies. She got her hat and went to the front door and it was locked, and she couldn't push it open. Her little face grew then it brightened as if by magic. She went softly upstairs, got a little chair and went down again to the diningroom window which was open. She let down the chair, then putting her feet first, landed on the chair, then jumped to the ground. She ran along the pavement, singing like a little bird, thinking of the little monkeys and ponies she had seen in the parade. There! What was that! It was the band, and there was the top of the tent. She hurried on.

Chapter 2.
The man who collected the tickets was waiting for her and he did not notice a little figure pass him and go into the tent where the animals were. Elsie looked carefully at them all and talked to them as if they were persons. After a while the band stopped and the people began to pour out. Poor little Elsie! She did not know which way to go! She turned! but the wrong way. She passed through an opening of the tent and found herself in a place where trunks and pink tights and spangled garments lay around. A trapeze girl entered and started in surprise. "And how did you like the show, my little one?" she said. "Oh, very much," she said also she hadn't seen it at all, only the animals. The girl changed her present dress to a shabby skirt and waist and went out. Elsie liked the pretty lady somehow, also she could not just tell why. She examined the spangles on the waist and things of interest till she grew tired, and seeing a pile of dirty rags behind a trunk, she climbed over and in a little while was sound asleep.

Chapter 3.
Elsie was awakened by a hoarse voice calling: "Look here, is this Beatrice's kid?" Elsie rubbed her eyes and looked annoyed then she remembered where she was and jumped up. The show was over and she must be going home. But how was she to get out? The man

To Aid a Farmer's Wife.

A wonderful way of saving your tablecloths and saving time in laundering it is to use plate cloths. These plate cloths two yards in length for the sides of the table and one yard for each end. These are made of cheap cotton lawning, eighteen inches in width, slightly starched, and pinned at corners over and placed upon the table to prevent their slipping into untidy positions. I make a centerpiece of a good grade flour of these I am able to use a tablecloth on my table for two or three weeks without being much soiled, and we live on a farm where it is considered a hard matter to keep table-cloths clean.

CARE OF EARTH ROADS.

How Clay Roadbed's Treatment Differs From One Composed of Sand.

On clay roads a thin layer of sand, gravel or ashes will prevent the sticking of clay to the roller or to the wheels of vehicles. Clay soils, as a rule, absorb water quite freely and soften when saturated, but water does not pass through them readily. When used alone clay is the least desirable of road materials, but roads composed of clay may be created with sand or small gravel from which a comparatively hard and compact mass is formed, which is nearly impervious to water. Material of this character found in the natural state commonly known as "hardpan" makes when properly applied a very solid and durable road. In soils composed of a mixture of sand, gravel and clay all that is necessary to make a good road is to crown the surface and keep the ruts and holes filled and the ditches open and free.

While clay alone never makes a good road except in dry weather, sand alone never makes a good road except in sand roads the drainage of a sand road is improved the more deplorable its condition. Nothing will ruin a road quicker than to dig a ditch on each side and drain all the water away. The best way, therefore, to make such a road firm is to keep it constantly damp. This can be done by planting shade trees along its sides to prevent the evaporation of water or by growing upon the surface of such sand roads a thick turf, preferably Bermuda grass. Roads running through loose sand may be improved by mixing clay with the sand and slightly crowning the surface.

For the temporary improvement of earth roads with any strong substance, especially if it holds moisture, such as refuse of sugar cane or sorghum and even common straw, sawdust or pine needles, will be useful. Spent tea bark is sometimes beneficial, and wood fiber in any form is excellent. Enough sand or earth should be thrown over such roads to keep them damp and protect them from catching fire.

Earth is composed of small, irregular fragments which touch each other at points, leaving voids between. When the earth is broken up and pulverized these voids are almost equal in volume to the solid particles, and as a result the earth will absorb almost an equal volume of water. In the building or maintaining of earth roads it is therefore very desirable that these small, irregular particles be pressed and packed into as small a space as possible in order that surplus water may not pass in and destroy the stability of the road. This means that the ditches for carrying away the water are not distant from the fences that hedge in the highway. The roadbed is entirely too wide, says the American Agriculturist. It cannot be sufficiently rounded toward the center, and as a result water does not run off with sufficient quickness. The temptation to spread roads by grading them thus is all the stronger since road graders have come into use. This result follows from the comparative softness with which the roads can be moved by these machines. A distance of forty-two to forty-five feet between the outer edges of the ditches furnishes a roadbed

There is One Paper

There is at least one paper in the world which is not printed for monetary gain and that one is Our Dumb Animals, which has been published at Boston for the past forty years by George T. Angell who is known the world over as the great humane educator.

Mr. Angell has devoted his life in speaking for those that cannot speak for themselves, and with his age in the eighties he retains all his faculties and continues the good work with the vigor of a youth. He sends his paper to every newspaper and magazine in the country and considers his greatest work that of talking through his paper to the thousands of editors of the country who in turn talk to their thousands of readers in the same way. The following announcement in the current issue adds to the above comment: "Ever since beginning our present humane work, forty years ago, we have made it a rule of life to avoid everything and everybody that might interfere with our independence of thought and action and so have invariably refused to take any advertisements at any price for this paper, the first of its kind in the world."—Troy Weekly Call, Oct. 10.

TAR WATERPROOF ROADS.

Expert Approves Binding Material For Stone Metaling.

In an article summing up the work of the international roads congress recently held in Paris a contributor to Nature, the leading English scientific weekly, says:

"On a matter of common interest—that is, the substitution of tar or bituminous binding material in place of the water lather used to consolidate and hold together the road material—the congress practically gave a unanimous answer. This was to the effect that if the tar be put on in the correct quantity, and this quantity the smallest required to hold the individual stones of the road metal firmly in position, so that they never roll or move in relation to one another, and their upper surfaces are allowed to wear themselves bare of tar, it is not difficult to obtain at moderate expense a waterproof road which will be practically dustless and which need not be slippery."

"It appears certain also that the annual cost will be considerably less than the cost of the existing water bound roads."

"It may be here remarked that, owing to the cautiousness and hence the reluctance of some of the most important of our road authorities, the true position of England, which now possesses the greatest lengths of carefully waterproofed roads of any country in the world, was not put forward so much as might have been the case."

"It was interesting to converse with American engineers, who on account of the importance of road development in America are studying this question very closely, and to hear from them how much more they could learn by visiting our English roads than anywhere in France, at any rate near the capital."

All officials are hereby reminded of this court orders for them to file lists of election officers, voting places and such other reports as are required of them. And they will have the same ready at the April term of this court.

It is ordered by the court that the following claims for sheep killed and injured, and for the costs incident to the proof of said claims, be and the same are hereby allowed to the persons named, respectively, and the same are certified to the Auditor for payment.

Richard Black, one sheep injured..... $ 7 00

Ernest Driskell, appraiser in Black sheep claim..... 50

Alfred Baington, appraiser in Black sheep claim..... 50

J. O'Reilly, fee as justice in Black sheep claim..... 50

George Squires, one sheep killed and one injured..... 9 00

J. O. Hook, appraiser in Squires sheep claim..... 50

Elith Board, appraiser in Squires sheep claim..... 50

J. O'Reilly, fee as justice in Squires sheep claim..... 50

It appearing to the court that in 50 few instances the appraisers have allowed $3, 4 or 5 dollars for sheep damaged, and in the above two cases, it suggested itself to the court, that there was a probability of the damages having been fixed too high. Evidence was heard in these cases and sheep so damaged were found to have afterward died or to have been damaged to an extent that rendered them practically valueless. We recommend that each magistrate exercise great discretion in the appointment of appraisers and that these appraisers exercise such care in their recommendations to this court; as this court will not allow any exorbitant claims. And in cases where suspicion is aroused, it can be but a source of expense and inconvenience to the claimants.

This day came Joel H. Pile, Supt. of Schools, and presented a claim as follows:

To hotel bill and railroad fare Frankfort and return $ 9 80

To postage notifying school election officers in 85 districts, 3 officers in each district 6 00

Which, after the court being advised to allow, and to which the county attorney objected, urging that the law did not warrant the payment of the account. It appearing from letters filed that the Superintendent, under the new law, by said trip to Frankfort and his manner of conducting said election, and of which met the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and was done by his direction, saved the county several hundred dollars, the court allowed said claim, respectfully disagreeing with the county attorney as to the legality of the claim. And now that they may be guided properly in the future, respectfully suggest that he have this matter definitely settled by the proper tribunal.

And the letters of the Superintendent of Public Instruction are directed to be filed with this claim as a part of the record..... $ 15 80

It is ordered by the court that the Public Improvement Committee be continued with the same powers that it has heretofore enjoyed.

This day came the committee appointed to adjust the janitor and jailer matters to the late law and made the following report: "We find that the new law directing the payment by the county for heat, light and janitor service at the court house, jail and other public buildings went into effect March 23, 1908. We recommend that the county officials be refunded money paid by them to the janitor since said date as follows:

Milt Miller, sheriff $ 25 00

T. J. Moore, Circuit Clerk, five months at $1.25 per month..... 6 25

W. F. Hook, county clerk, five months at $1.25 per month..... 6 25

H. DeH. Moorman, county judge, five months at $1.25 per month..... 6 25

That no charge be made against the jailer as it operated before the passage of the law and that hereafter heat, light and janitor services be provided and paid for as directed by law. And it appearing that the School Superintendent Joel H. Pile, county attorney, Gus Brown, and Supervisor of Roads, J. V. St. Clair, have procured janitor services for which the county should have paid, we recommend that they each be allowed for five months at $1.25 per month. It appearing after careful investigation that the city of Hardinsburg has failed and refused to comply with its part of a mutual agreement relating to a public alley and the county privy and stable, we endorse and approve the order of the county judge entered in Order Book No. 22 at page 272 concerning same and recommended that the same be made the order of this court.

A HOME WHERE PERUNA IS USED.

Residence of Mr. C. Hallock, Antwerp, Ohio.

CATARH OF THE HEAD.

Mr. C. Hallock, Antwerp, Ohio, writes: "My daughter, Alice, after taking three bottles of your Peruna, is entirely cured of catarrh of the head of two years standing.

"We have used Peruna as a general tonic, as well as for catarrh, and are well pleased with it, and recommend it to anybody who has catarrh.

"Anybody wishing any information can write to me."

Could Take No Food.

Mr. William F. Burke, 1365 Frankford Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "On the 19th of February, 1901, I was taken with cramps that extended from just below my throat to the bottom of my stomach. They were so severe that my wife had to go for a doctor about two o'clock in the morning.

"I had from February until July of that year three doctors, and they were giving me medicine for kidney, liver and bladder troubles, and after taking all kinds of their mixtures, in the month of July I could neither eat nor drink. For three weeks I had not taken a morsel of food except in a liquid form. At the end of that time I could not drink milk or water except in small sips, which caused me great pain.

"I had given up all hope of living more than a week or two at most. I told my wife I thought I had catarrh of the stomach. She seemed to think so, and having read of Peruna I decided to give it a trial.

"I took several doses that evening, and for the first time in weeks rested fairly that night.

"I kept on using Peruna as I had started, and after using it three days and nights the pains in my chest and stomach disappeared, and they have never appeared since, and it will be two years this July."

Peruna Relieved All Symptoms.

Mr. J. C. Crumpecker, R. R. 1, Kokomo, Ind., writes:

"I can say that I have nothing to complain of now. I feel well, rest well at night, have a good but moderate appetite, can eat almost any kind of food.

"I have no aches or pains anywhere, and can do some kind of work every day. I must say I can stand as much fatigue as I ever could, and feel good over it.

"The hemorrhage has yielded to Peruna, the grip has done the same, as well as pains and aches of all kinds.

"The roaring noise has entirely left my ears and head, my mind is clear, my recollection good, my bowels are regular, and I just simply feel easy all over.

"The cure of my case was surely a victory."

Catarth of Long Standing.

Mr. C. R. Renshaw, 570 Second St., Ogden, Utah, writes: "I take great personal interest in the work of Judge Wiley and his court. In a way he supervised its work and was frequently appealed to by Judge Wiley for advice as to procedure and other details. The lack of adequate laws hampered Judge Wiley, but by proceeding in accordance with the common law he quickly made the court effective. Within a few months after the court was organized Shanghai and other cities in China where conditions were such as to require it were thoroughly and drastically cleaned up. Shyster American lawyers were disbanded, so that the gamblers, disreputable women and other offenders against the law were deprived of legal support. The reputable American lawyers in good standing aided Judge Wiley. Heavy fines and terms of imprisonment exercised a deterrent effect upon the lawbreakers, many of whom submitted freely to the law and in some cases brought them to account for their misdeeds.

When Mr. Taft was in Shanghai last fall he was heartily thanked and congratulated by the law abiding Americans there for the part he had taken in removing the stigma from the American flag and restoring the good name of the national name in the Orient. In his speech before the American association in China he paid a high tribute to Judge Wiley, saying in part:

"Our government was fortunate in selection as the first judge of the court of a gentleman who had had four years' experience in the Philippines and who went to Shanghai with an intimate knowledge of the method of uniting in one administration the principles of the common law of the United States with the traditions and conditions of a foreign country. His policy in raising high the standard of administration and in promoting the vigorous prosecution of American violators of law, which eliminated from that community many undesirable characters, has done more to disgrace upon the name of Americans in the cities of China, cannot but commend itself to any one interested in the good name of the United States among the Chinese people and with our brethren of other countries who live in China."

Hans physics rest, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Dr. Ruggles operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. 25c. Ask your druggists for them.

Mrs. W. D. Ashcraft, of Brandenburg, and Mrs. M. Day, of Seattle, Wash., were in Louisville last week. Mr. May will arrive from Seattle, next month to spend Christmas with his and Mrs. May's relatives.

TAFT'S WORK IN CHINA

He Rehabilitated Our National Reputation.

CHECKED COURT ABUSES.

Cleared the United States Banner From the Dishonor That American Criminals Had Brought Upon It. Rejected Consular Service.

It was chiefly through the influence and at the instigation of Mr. Taft that the recent rehabilitation of our national reputation in China was accomplished by the establishment of the United States court in Shanghai. Until Mr. Taft became a prominent figure in the far east scandalous conditions had prevailed in Shanghai and other cities of China where the United States consular extra territorial rights. Undesirable subjects of the United States, men and women, had degraded the American flag by their conduct in the cities which to conduct numerous nefarious enterprises. American shippers, gamblers and promoters of questionable enterprises had been in the cities with their disreputable lawyers to their mutual and illegal gain. In various instances these criminal endeavors were aided and abetted by American consular officers, who were dismissed from the service. The former practice of adjudicating all causes in which Americans were parties in consular courts in the cities. The American flag in Shanghai particularly, stood for national dishonor in the eyes of other nations who by legislation and the creation and proper use of courts spared their flags the disgrace that descended upon the United States banner.

When he was at the head of the Philippine government in Manila Mr. Taft by his proximity to China soon appreciated the seriousness of the conditions existing in that country. He stood in the eyes of the Chinese as one who were indifferently exposing ourselves by our failure to keep in check crime in the Philippines. He brought the matter to the attention of the state department and joined with Secretary Root, Representative Edwin Denby of Michigan, a son of the former United States minister to China; Charles Denby, another son, who is now consul general at Shanghai; Senator Spooner and some others in an endeavor to remedy the conditions. He exerted his influence to obtain the passage by congress of a bill creating the United States court for China. Leubus Redmond Wiley of Missouri, who had been Mr. Taft's attorney general in the Philippines, was named as judge.

Mr. Taft from the first took a deep
